

- so you know what the prof's talking about.
- It's important to attend lectures because some profs drop clues about what they consider to be important.

Reading

Nigel Anthrax, bassist with "The Bile Guys", seemed to think reading was the most important study skill to develop: "Well, I wrote this song about it, it's called "Pages of Rages", and it's about this one student and his bloody horrible reading habits. He can't remember a sodding thing he's read, and so in frustration he firebombs the prof. Pretty soon the cops grab him and throw him in prison. But he's only given a six month sentence because the prof he bombed headed, neo-nazi oppressor. Wait until after the exam.

- Budget your time; decide how much time you want to spend on a question and make sure to leave some time to check your answers at the end of the exam.
- Write down notes before trying the question, and try the questions you know the best first. This cuts down anxiety.
- Check your answers."

Well, that's what Britain's punkers say about study skills. If you need help with your study skills, contact the Advisory Bureau at 631 Spadina Ave. (Phone: 978-2684). And remember: Smash the Fascist — Improve your study skills!
